Celebration for Completing Hep C Treatment

July 26, 2013 By Connie M. Welch

Are you completing treatment for Hep C? or Have you completed treatment? If so, give a shout out. We want to celebrate with you. We would love to post a Celebration Board for all those who have done treatment.

Please list the dates of your treatment, which treatment meds you were on and your completion date or estimated completion date, and if you care to share, please let us know your treatment results.

If you have a photo that you would like to send, give me a shout and let me know. You can send your photo to me through email. We would love to post a photo of you or your celebration day and what treatment meds you were on and the date you completed treatment.

If you are close to completing treatment, send me your information and photo. We are cheering for each and every Hep C Warrior!

We are all in this together!

Where are you in your journey?
