Going to India?

May 31, 2015 By Greg Jefferys

It seems that I will not be able to organise anyone as a facilitator in Delhi for folk going to India to get Sofosbuvir. So I can only give you contact details for Chennai. I have contacted the Mylan distributor and he is fine with me passing on his contact details. Please only contact him once you are in India and only to arrange to buy the medication. If he gets bombarded by general questions about obscure things then he will not be happy. If you have general questions please direct them to me by email. So I have made up an information sheet that has all the contact details for all the people dealt with and places that I went. I think it is all that is needed to get Sofosbuvir in Chennai. If you email me I will send the info to you.

Good luck
