Hepatitis C Treatment in Texas

November 23, 2018 By Greg Jefferys

A few days ago I posted a short email from a lady in Texas whose brother could not access any form of Hep C treatment there. She was watching her brother lying in bed slowly dying from an easily cured disease. Now here is another email from Texas, from a man watching his mother dying… Truly how greedy, how cruel, is Gilead… to have the cure for Hepatitis C and not make it available to those people who need it?

Hi Greg

My name is John and I am from a small town in Texas.
My mother found out about 4 yrs ago that she has Hepatitis C. Over the last four years she has been going to Doctor after Doctor and really we haven't seen a difference.
She was told about a month ago she may possibly have cirrhosis of the liver. I love my mom and I can't lose her yet. How could i get this medication? Or does she need to go to India. I've been taking her to her appointments and honestly we don't have $80,000 it costs for the treatments.
What do i need to do to save her?
Thanks

So whilst tens of thousands of American are dying because they can not access affordable Hepatitis C treatment Gilead actively tries to block and censor information about the effectiveness of generic Hepatitis C treatment.

Almost every day I get emails from folk telling me they have heard rumours that these generic Hep C medicines are fake or even poisonous… seriously!

Here are two examples I received this week:

Hi Greg

I'm curious: do you know of any companies who test hep c medications to make sure they are real?

I've heard rumours there are fake drugs around.

thanks
