

Father-Daughter Conversation

March 24, 2016

This video story features a conversation between a daughter and her parents, with the daughter explaining why Asian Americans should be tested for Hepatitis B. 1 in 12 Asian Americans has Hepatitis B, but most don't know they are infected. This video is part of CDC's multi-lingual Know Hepatitis B campaign, conducted in partnership with Hep B United. For more information about the campaign, visit www.cdc.gov/knowhepatitisB
