Hepatitis Awareness Month: The Road Ahead

May 31, 2018 By Lucinda K. Porter RN

It is still May, and still Hepatitis Awareness Month. And although June begins tomorrow, hepatitis ignores the calendar. Viral hepatitis will be here every day in June, and for as long as I can see, UNLESS we change the trajectory. We can eliminate viral hepatitis, but we must keep the momentum going. Here's what we can do as we journey forward:

- Get involved.
- Tell your hep story.
- Join up. My favorite organization for information about opportunities for hepatitis advocacy is the National Viral Hepatitis Roundtable (NVHR).
- Stay current. Find the latest news at Hepmag.com.
- Use social media to raise awareness. Tweet @hepatitismag about what you are going to do today and tomorrow to #StopHep.
